

(Lauren) Angelica Mirabal is a born and raised Florida native who moved to the Big Island of Hawaii to pursue her lifelong dreams. She has been hand-crafting and designing jewelry for almost 10 years. Her passion for jewelry making began after years of collecting seaglass, seashells, and gemstones. She wanted a way to be able to show off her extensive collection of gems, so she began teaching herself the skill of wrapping precious metals onto her findings, then advanced on to soldering, pmc metal clay, and more. After years of practice, she has perfected and advanced her craft. After years of living in the gorgeous paradise of Hawaii, Angelica launched the Big Island of Hawaii Collection which is now on display in One Gallery. This collection draws upon natural elements such as sea glass and raw olivine minerals (peridot) that you will find amongst the land of the Big Island. As well as high quality tahitian pearls and gemstones. Only the finest metals such as 14k rose/yellow gold and .925 sterling silver are used to enhance her designs. Which tend to be very unique and one of a kind while maintaining a delicate, feminine, and classy look.
